

While there are a lot of modes of transportation around campus, there are none that are affordable to use every single day.